PM Says Job Trend Bright

HALIFAX (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker says Canada's trade and employment picture is brightening under his Progressive Conservative government. He emphasized that theme in two speeches Monday night, one over a national television net-

Broome Adds To U.S. China Export Story

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ernie Broome, Progressive Conservative candidate for Vancouver South, produced at an election meeting Monday night a letter from a United States automobile firm refusing a Communist Chinese order addressed to its Canadian subsidiary.

Mr. Broome said the letter was dated Feb. 12, 1957, and this date was important since Liberal Leader Pearson said last month he is disturbed that the U.S. government is moving to prevent such sales and that the Canadian government should protest its action. This particular sale was prevented at a time when Mr. Pearson was external affairs minister, Mr. Broome said.

LIBERALS

Pearson Says Liberals Reject Personality Cult

TORONTO (CP)—Lester B. Pearson says that unlike the Progressive Conservatives, the Liberals have rejected the "cult of personality, whether expressed in terms of dictatorship or demagoguery."

The Liberals, instead of depending on "oracular fervor and circus crusades," appealed to "essential goodwill and intelligence," the party leader said Monday night in a national television broadcast.

Comparing the two major parties, Mr. Pearson suggested that a political leader had to do more than "rhapsodize about a vision of the future." He had to state clearly his ideas on policy and legislation touching on the lives of all Canadians.

SOCIALISTS

Coldwell Charges PC's With Pipeline Betrayal

TORONTO (CP)—CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell returned to active campaigning Monday night with charges of deception and betrayal against the Progressive Conservative government.

An estimated 2,500 persons packed Massey Hall nearly to capacity for the last major CCF rally in this area before the March 31 federal election.

They cheered the 68-year-old former school teacher when he said: "My chest is cleared up. My heart is in good shape."

For Mr. Coldwell, it was his first platform appearance since he returned to Ottawa from Western Canada March 14 for a rest. He suffered a heart attack last year and earlier in this year's campaign was forced to cancel work and the other to a capacity audience of nearly 2,200 in a downtown theatre.

He said the Liberal "doctrine of gloom and doom" is that Canada's export trade is declining. "Why don't they tell the Canadian people that Canada's export trade last year was the largest in history?"

DEFICIT CUT

In the first two months of this year the trade deficit—excess of imports over exports—had been cut by $100,000,000. Mr. Diefenbaker gave no details. The two-month trade deficit a year ago was $140,200,000.

"We have increased our export trade in the face of great international difficulties and of a business recession in the United States, where there are over 5,000,000 unemployed."

He said Canadian unemployment "arose directly as a result of the tight-money policy of the last government, carried on too long."

"We're over the peak of unemployment as a result of our policies and I can see light ahead—employment reasonable and complete in the next few months."

NEW PROMISE

The government had cut taxes and increased social security payments to stimulate the economy, extended by eight weeks the payment period for special winter unemployment insurance benefits, and had launched "the greatest public works program this country has ever seen."

families; on bringing tax-sharing equality, and justice to the provinces; on increasing aid for education and expanded social security for all Canadians.

"Behind all of these particular policies is an attitude of mind toward people, toward resources, toward government itself."

And even in an age when governments tend to spread their activities over men's affairs, "it is the Liberal attitude which will draw a line and say—so far and no further can you go without endangering a free society itself."

At a mid-afternoon reception that preceded the broadcast, he and Mrs. Pearson shook hands with some 900 persons in a chatty, slow-moving, 65-minute hand-shaking episode that drew the comment from the Liberal leader: "My hand is worn out and so is my tongue."

engagements due a chest ailment. He spoke forcefully for more than an hour, mainly on unemployment and the government's failure to correct "the nefarious deal" in pipeline speculation which was criticized by the Conservatives while they were in opposition in 1956.

He cited what he said were huge profits made by a Ralph Harris of Vancouver and Frank McMahon of Calgary and said that Toronto consumers would find the profits reflected in inflated gas rates when the pipeline reaches here from the West.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker's claim that the government has launched a $1,000,000,000 public works program to beat unemployment is "outright deception to achieve a political end."

He said that he was tired and left the building immediately after the meeting to prepare for a trip today to Kamloops where he will address a political rally.

He aimed the bulk of his criticism at the Conservative party and Prime Minister Diefenbaker. He reviewed spending programs of the Social Credit government on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, highways, bridges, power development and timber resources.

"We are doing all these things and are reducing the provincial debt at the same time," he remarked.

PHOTOGRAPHS ARROW

This head-mounted camera was worn by F/L Jack Woodman to photograph the air flight of the Avro Arrow, Canada's most powerful jet interceptor, tested in the air today. Woodman followed the Arrow in a Sabre jet, using the camera during the flight.

AVRO ARROW TAKES TO AIR IN FIRST MAJOR TEST FLIGHT

TORONTO (CP)—A huge white jet interceptor which could become Canada's chief defence weapon against enemy attack darted through blue skies over nearby Malton Airport today on its maiden flight.

The CF-105 Arrow, costliest aircraft ever built in Canada, took off with a thunderous roar that shook buildings. It landed 35 minutes later on schedule.

Veteran test pilot Jan Zurakowski took the delta-winged Arrow to 8,000 feet while two "chase planes" photographed its flight characteristics.

Hundreds of people lined roads around the airport to watch the flight. Many were workers from the nearby Avro Aircraft Limited plant where the Arrow was designed and built in three years at a cost of $200,000,000.

Although the Arrow is capable of speeds up to 1,200 miles an hour, Zurakowski, Polish-born Second World War pilot who spent 18 months preparing for the flight, was under instructions to keep the plane under 400 miles an hour.

Watchers saw the Arrow shoot down the runway on takeoff at more than 200 miles an hour and climb sharply. It circled the airport and cut away, closely trailed by an RCAF Sabre and an Avro CF-100.

Three-Year-Old's Call Averts Local Tragedy

Mill Creek almost claimed another child drowning victim Monday.

Were it not for a three-year-old girl who ran and told her mother: "Rena in water!" another tragedy may have been recorded for the small creek that winds its way through Five Bridges, Woodlawn and the city of Kelowna.

A frantic mother completed the drama by pulling her 22-month-old daughter out of the cold water a short distance downstream from the westernmost bridge on Burne Ave., in the Woodlawn district.

Mrs. Gerald Brooks admitted she knew little about artificial respiration, but in what seemed like an hour but was just something like a minute, she had Rena breathing and crying again.

The Brooks reside on the creek's bank. A constant watch is kept on the two girls, Bonny, 3, and Rena, 22 months, when playing outside.

OVER HER HEAD

But yesterday, Mrs. Brooks was momentarily distracted and that was all the time it took for Rena to tumble into the water, which is over her head in some places there.

Just how long she had been in the water is open to conjecture but two minutes would seem to be about the time. When Mrs. Brooks reached the little girl she was almost completely submerged and the current had taken her down several yards. She was blue-faced and not breathing.

A neighbor 'phoned for the Inhalator crew but cancelled the call when it became apparent Rena would make it on her own.

Mr. Brooks, the child's father, was at work at the time and did not know of the near-tragedy until he arrived home in the evening.

1,500 Electricians End 3-Week B.C. Strike

BCE, Union Agree Except In Pay Issue

VANCOUVER (CP)—The three-week-old strike of 1,500 electricians employed by B.C. Electric and two contractors was virtually settled Monday night with agreement of the two sides to the appointment of a B.C. Supreme Court judge as arbitrator.

Spokesmen for the negotiators said the men will return to work "as soon as arrangements have been made." Normal work schedule was expected to be in operation before the end of this week.

Representatives of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and of B.C. Electric, which has been negotiating on behalf of the other two affected companies, reached agreement on appointment of the arbitrator at their third meeting.

They decided to ask Chief Justice Sherwood Lett to name the judge, whose decision will be binding on both sides.

A joint company-union statement said agreement had been reached on all matters except wages. The union has been asking for raises of up to 40 per cent, while the company has said it could not go beyond the 19-per cent increase recommended by a conciliation board.

Linemen, key group affected, at present, earn from $2.41 to $2.49 an hour.

B.C. Electric has managed to maintain its service throughout the strike by use of emergency squads of supervisory personnel which repaired line breaks and other troubles.

'Liz Taylor Collapses On Todd Coffin

CHICAGO (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor, on the verge of collapse, threw herself upon the coffin of her husband, Mike Todd, before his funeral services today.

She screamed wildly in grief as she approached the family plot in Waldheim cemetery for simple services of the Jewish faith.

Todd, 50, and three companions were killed Saturday in an airplane crash.

The actress' feet never touched the ground as she was borne from her limousine to the graveside by her brother, Howard Taylor, and her physician, Dr. Frederick Kennerly.

BROTHER OBJECTED
Todd's older brother, Carl Goldbogen, 61, a taxi driver, started screaming when the funeral party entered the cemetery.

Carl, who had been estranged from his brother Mike since 1938, objected to the presence of Richard Hanley, Todd's executive secretary, at the family gathering.

When others tried to quiet him, he shouted:

"Throw me out. I dare you to throw me out. I will not be here while Hanley is here. I know I'm only poor Carl."

Finally, his brother, Frank, talked quietly and earnestly to him and he replied, "I'll do it for you Frank."

Resourceful Skier Saved From Death

VANCOUVER (CP)—A resourceful German-born skier, clad only in a thin shirt, trousers and ski boots, survived a day and a night on chilly Mount Seymour, across Burrard Inlet from here.

Eric Krueger, 28, was spotted just before nightfall Monday by Jack Atkinson and Hugh Schmidberger. They constituted one of three parties which had been looking for Krueger.

The skier was taken down the mountain to North Vancouver General Hospital, and said he felt fine except for being cold and hungry.

A young Scottish hiker died on the 4,000-foot mountain northeast of here last year when he became lost.

Krueger was missing for 28 hours. He said he huddled beside a fire Sunday night after failing to rendezvous with two ski companions, and walked in circles from noon Monday.

He said he was following a well-established ski trail Sunday when it faded to a single ski mark. He lost his glasses as he swept further down the slope and became lost.

Council Will Up Indemnity

City Council has voted itself an increase in annual indemnity, in keeping with the Municipal Act.

Final reading was given Monday night to Bylaw 1953, which sets the mayor's annual salary at $2,500 and that of the aldermen at $850.

There are stipulations attached to each bracket, however. Of the $2,500 to be paid to the mayor, $833 shall be paid for out-of-pocket expenses arising from the position.

For the aldermen, $283 of the $850 shall be considered as "expenses."

The new salary scale was made retroactive to January 1. Formerly the mayor and aldermen received a flat salary of $2,000 and $500 respectively.

U.S. May Add Curbs On Oil

WASHINGTON (CP)—The United States is expected shortly to impose further restrictions on imports of crude oil from Canada and other oil-producing countries.

A cabinet committee set up by President Eisenhower to review current import restrictions has just about completed its work and observers here say there is every expectation it will recommend a further reduction in oil imports.

Eisenhower is expected to accept the committee's recommendations.

There is no immediate indication when the new restrictions will come into force but some sources suggested the new program might be announced this week.

VOLUNTARY CURBS
The government initiated a voluntary oil import program last July, asking U.S. imports to reduce shipments coming into all areas of the United States east of the Rocky Mountains.

Canadian shipments, which enter the U.S. at the west coast, were largely unaffected until Jan. 1, when the administration extended the restrictions to the Pacific coast region. Under the program, Canadian imports were reduced to 64,000 barrels a day from their 1957 daily average of 81,700 barrels.

The state department last month rejected a Canadian diplomatic protest over the extension of the reduction to Canadian supplies.

Bennett Blasts Old-Line Parties

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—One of the largest political rallies in the history of the Cariboo riding heard Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia blast Canada's old-line parties here Monday night.

Officials of the Prince George civic centre estimated 1,100 persons crowded an auditorium to hear the premier and Linda and Foresta Bennett, his wife and daughter, campaign on behalf of Social Credit candidate Bert Leboe.

"In the old-line parties the whip—not democratic freedom—works for you," Bennett declared.

Drivers Without Insurance Highway's Worst Menace

B.C. might be well advised to follow the example of Ontario whereby applicants for automobile licences who do not carry car insurance are being asked to pay $5 towards the unsatisfied judgment fund. The latter fund is used to award cash damages to those unfortunate enough to become involved in an automobile collision with a car owner who does not carry insurance.

While there is no compulsory automobile insurance scheme in B.C. a car owner must file proof of financial responsibility in the event he is in an accident. Failure to do so results in the impounding of a vehicle.

There is no greater menace on the road than the fellow with the old, beat-up car and no insurance, whose irresponsible driving usually lands him in a collision with another automobile. When such an accident happens, the person unfortunate enough to have been hit finds himself unable to collect any damages from the other party, who usually has no money of his own. These reckless drivers, having no financial stake in their car or their driving, usually are the most irresponsible of drivers, and innocent motorists or pedestrians who may fall victim to their carelessness are put to a great deal of trouble and expense to recover any damages.

B.C.'s unsatisfied judgment fund is not administered by the government, but the insurance companies themselves. And it is only good for personal injury and not for property damage. The only way a person can collect is to sue the other party. If the guilty party has no financial responsibility, application is then made under the unsatisfied judgment fund.

Commenting on the Ontario government's action, the Orillia Packet and Times says "... this innovation (unsatisfied judgment fund) may be a relatively trifling one, but it shows for the first time that the provincial government may at long last be considering making it compulsory for every car owner to carry insurance on his vehicle. Such action cannot come too soon.

"... such compulsory insurance has long prevailed in Saskatchewan, although the fact that the province itself operated the largest auto insurance company and hence was the chief beneficiary of such compulsion, added a sour flavor. But similar measures have long been in force in Great Britain, all the Scandinavian countries, New Zealand, South Africa and many other places including the State of Massachusetts.

"Ontario, with its vast and growing number of automobiles, the largest of any Canadian province, should be a leader in formulating progressive automobile legislation. Surely no such legislation is more needed at the present time than proper insurance laws, making proper insurance responsibility compulsory for every licensed car owner.

"Accordingly, it is encouraging that the province should be making all uninsured owners this year make a contribution to the unsatisfied judgments fund. It is not so much the amount of the contribution, as for the indication that this stop-gap move may simply be the forerunner of good legislation to come."

OTTAWA REPORT

Bank Report Causes Stir

By PATRICK NICHOLSON (Specially Written For The Kelowna Daily Courier)

OTTAWA—If we were not in the midst of an election campaign, we would be hearing much more about the conflict in financial ideas between our finance minister, Hon. Donald Fleming, and the Governor of the Bank of Canada, James Coyne.

More will probably be heard later about the conflict, which was hinted at in this column several months ago.

By accident or design, Mr. Coyne has just pitch-forked this disagreement into the public eye, by injecting a political controversy into his recent annual report—and he did this in the middle of an election campaign.

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and his fellow Conservatives have repeatedly expressed their belief that the tight money policy imposed by the former Liberal government was a major factor in creating the upsurge in unemployment. Their policies have included the loosening of money to create more jobs.

Now Mr. Coyne has evidently tried to destroy the appeal of this Conservative policy, and he has waded into the election fray by asserting in his annual report that "there has never been a tight money policy in Canada since the establishment of the Bank of Canada 23 years ago."

Did Mr. Coyne write those words himself? They could not have been more tailor-made for Mr. Pearson and his followers if they had been written by a Liberal publicist.

But has Mr. Coyne forgotten that just twelve months ago, in his previous annual report, he frankly admitted that a tight money policy was in effect in Canada, and had been for a long time?

In March, 1957, he said: "Throughout 1956 the operations of the Bank of Canada were directed towards keeping the chartered banks in a relatively tight cash position. . . . The Bank of Canada had no alternative but to restrain monetary and credit expansion. . . . The monetary policy in Canada for the past two years had been designed to provide increasing resistance to the expansion of credit, and to offer discouragement to increased borrowing."

Contradicting himself a year later, Mr. Coyne now denies that there had been a tight money policy. He should ask small business men and others who tried to borrow money from the banks; he should ask construction workers who lost their jobs because the tight money policy cut off the mortgage money needed to finance new homes.

A TV election speech by ex-Liberal fisheries minister, Hon. James Sinclair focussed attention on Mr. Coyne's report before it was released.

"Mr. Diefenbaker makes much of a so-called hidden report," said Mr. Sinclair. "Also hidden is the annual report of the Governor of the Bank of Canada—which would have to be tabled in parliament as sitting—a report which will confirm the steady decline in the national economy since the Conservative government took office."

I wonder how Mr. Sinclair was in a position to declare that the report would "confirm" anything. Had anyone told him what was in the as yet unpublished report?

As a former assistant to a Liberal finance minister, Mr. Sinclair should be aware of the terms of the Bank Act, which was revised less than four years ago as the policy of the cabinet of which he was a member. Has he forgotten that, by the terms of that revision, the government no longer has to publish the report of the governor in the Canada Gazette? Did he not know that the governor has his report printed privately, not by the government printer, and releases it himself? If the report was "hidden," it was not hidden by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Last year the governor released his report on March 11. Mr. Sinclair spoke on TV on the evening of March 11 this year. The governor did not release this year's report until two days later. And that report, incidentally gave us the first welcome news of the end of the decline in our national economy. Two significant indices, total exports and house-building starts, both attained all-time record levels in the last quarter of 1957.

The Bank of Canada is deliberately placed beyond possible interference by politicians. Likewise the bank should refrain from interfering in politics. It is regrettable that the governor, willfully or not, should have failed to observe this precept.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

WEST SIDE ROAD

Editor,
Kelowna Daily Courier,
Kelowna, B.C.

Dear Sir: In the issue of your paper, dated March 19, there appears a letter signed P.D.M. which advocates the completion of the Naramata road to provide a bypass for traffic passing through Kelowna and also to alleviate unemployment.

As an alternative suggestion and one that would prove of greater benefit to all would be the west side of the lake from the ferry landing to connect with Highway 97 at O'Keefe's, thus providing a bypass for all traffic to points north of Vernon.

If this road was put in first class condition it would become a most beautiful drive to travel around the head of the lake and return via Highway 97, under the existing conditions one can only drive either north or south and return via the same route.

This road at present is not bad as far as Wilson's Landing but from here to Flintry is very rough and would require re-locating. From Flintry to O'Keefe's it is a very good grade.

I made this suggestion some years ago at the time of an agitation for a third ferry but the merchants of Kelowna frowned upon the idea their vision being limited to the width of their counters.

Thanking you in anticipation for publishing this letter,
I remain,
Yours truly,
H. C. S. Collett.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

By THE VENERABLE D. S. CATCHPOLE

TREES

"I think that I shall never see, a poem lovely as a tree. I don't know what Kelowna thinks of poems but I am beginning to think that it doesn't like trees. Not just the city, mind you, which has been particularly busy on South Richfield tearing trees out by the roots, but individuals, too, who seem to delight in nothing more than cutting down trees. I am still not recovered from the death of two old friends of mine, Lebanon Cedars, which took forty or more years to grow and which were wantonly destroyed to provide a drive-way.

Hardly a day goes by but, on my travels, I see less and less verdure in the sky, and less and less shadow to ease the heat of the summer sun. The main idea appears to be to give the town a crew-cut. Pretty soon the place will look like any prairie town. I have no objection to prairie towns in their rightful surroundings, namely miles and miles of flat unadorned land, but I do bewail the loss of the trees which help to make a town beautiful.

Practically all that is left to us by way of timber in this place are the telephone and electric light poles. We have orderly forests of them, hideous as they are; but anything with branches has to come down. Personally Speaking, I deplore the whole cruel business.

The glory of Ontario's countryside and of England, too, are the trees. In the middle of a field will be seen a lovely tree, or perhaps there will be a few along the edge of a meadow; but never once last summer did I see acres of land without a sign of green foliage. "Keep British Columbia Green," we are admonished by signs painted on the roads. Delighted, I am sure, but there will be no danger of fires before long as there will be nothing to burn. The government builds a road and murders all the trees along the way. Perhaps the Minister of Highways doesn't like trees. There used to be some by Wood Lake and very pretty it was along that road during the season when the leaves were on the trees. Now it is one glorious glare the whole way. Such is the price of progress!

Certainly Kelowna is not the pretty place it was sixteen years ago or more. Granted there were places where there were untidy spots, fallen branches, brambles and whatnot; but there was greenery and coolness. Now you have to hunt all over the place to stand in a shadow and ten to one it has to be the shadow of a West Kootenay Power and Light Company pole.

Well, I suppose all this has to be. Works crews will tell you that the roots of trees get into sewers and disrupt water pipes. Power and telephone people will tell you they are a nuisance because the branches get into the wires. Poplars fall on houses, so they must come down, and trees prevent grass from growing under them and they are said to be responsible for poor flower beds. I dare say it is all true, but I weep for the trees. "I think that I shall never see a poem lovely as a tree"; yes, indeed, but I am beginning to think that in Kelowna you will be able soon to amend that line by eliminating the words "a poem lovely as".

International Race Under Way To Convert Energy

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—An international race is on to invent a device to convert the energy of heat—especially atomic heat—directly into electricity.

Two professors of Massachusetts Institute of Technology now believe they have invented such a device—a silent engine with no moving parts.

Thermo-electron engine is the name of the new machine.

If successful it may take the place of the complicated steam and other engine in power drive dynamos to convert heat energy into electric power.

Some day such thermo-electron engines might yield electricity directly from atomic power reactors, or use solar heat, or ordinary fuels. They would drive satellites, silent military vehicles, or even automobiles.

Westbank Women Hear Dave Pugh

WESTBANK — The Women's Conservative Association of Westbank held a coffee party at the home of Mrs. P. D. Howes at Lakeview Heights on March 20. On March 21, a tea party was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Johnson in Westbank. At both gatherings Dave Pugh was present and gave a brief talk.

The floor price for apples which has been guaranteed by the new agricultural act brought in by the Diefenbaker government last January caused a great deal of discussion. "Mr. Diefenbaker intends this valley to be prosperous and whatever legislation it takes to make it so, he will bring it in," said Mr. Pugh. If the act doesn't come into effect in time for the 1957 crop, a promise had been given by the Minister of Agriculture, the Honorable Mr.

Popular Players Present "Pirates Of Penzance" Wed.

In keeping with British Columbia's centennial year, the Summerland Singers and Players Club, well remembered for their annual Gilbert and Sullivan productions, will this season offer what they term their "centennial production". It will be the "Pirates Of Penzance," and it takes to the stage of the Anglican Hall, Kelowna, Wednesday, Mar. 26 at 8:15 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Anglican Drama Club.

This club has been the means of presenting the Summerland group for the past seven years to Kelowna audiences. From all indications at the ticket exchange in Long's Drugs, Kelowna fans have lost no ardour for Gilbert and Sullivan.

The "Pirates Of Penzance" made its 1938 debut last night in the Summerland High School Auditorium where the first of a three-city playing schedule was begun. Wednesday evening the Anglican Hall of Kelowna will be the local stand and a two-night stand in Penikeseon will be undertaken on Friday and Saturday, March 28 and 29 in the high school auditorium.

taste of the rapid patter type song so characteristic of Gilbert and Sullivan.

The caustic wit of Gilbert combined with some of Sullivan's engaging airs makes "The Pirates of Penzance" a show well worth attending. The full orchestra and colorful staging will add to the enjoyment. Tickets are available now at Long's Super Drugs or may be procured on a "rush" basis at the door.

Alberta Painter Triumphs In Eastern Photographic Exhibit

TORONTO (CP) — An exhibition of photographs of painter Roloff Beny, 34, has been acclaimed as one of the best ever by a Canadian.

Dr. Theodore A. Henrich, director of the Royal Ontario Museum where the exhibition was held, said he had inquiries about further showings from galleries in Toronto, Hamilton and London, Ont.

"We haven't attendance figures," he said, "but I have been most impressed by the numbers who viewed Mr. Beny's exhibition."

EXHIBIT HELD OVER... The showing of photographs from the Medicine Hat — born painter's travels opened Jan. 13 and was supposed to end March 10.

"It was such a success we had to hold it over until March 23," Dr. Henrich said. He said it would likely reopen in another Toronto gallery.

The museum's information officer, Duncan Cameron, a professional photographer for six years, called Mr. Beny's exhibit "the best I've ever seen."

Mr. Cameron said: "He has a sense of humor, an alert and fresh eye, and has been able to take the design and harmony from his painting and apply it to his material."

Mr. Beny first won acclaim as a painter after he graduated from the University of Toronto. He studied in the United States and Europe and now makes his home in Rome. His paintings hang in major galleries in Canada and the United States and in several noted private collections.

Mr. Beny's parents saw the exhibition recently on their return from Rome. His father, Charles J. F. Beny, is an automobile dealer in Lethbridge.

Roloff Beny says he has no intention of giving up painting. He became interested in natural-light photography only as an added medium of expression.

Many of the photographs in the exhibition will be among 195 in a 250-page book scheduled for publication in April. Titled "The Throes of Earth and Heaven (from Shelley's Prometheus Unbound)", it is an imaginative study of subjects that appealed to him while touring ancient civilizations. The introduction is by Sir Herbert Read, English poet and critic.

Betty Lording To Play Heroine

"Love Rides the Rails" or "Will the Mail Train Run Tonight?", the Kelowna Little Theatre's Easter holiday fare for centennial-minded Kelownians, has many new passengers in its hilarious ride.

Betty Lording plays Prudence "the loveliest example of true womanhood." Betty made her debut in the Little Theatre in Kelowna when she appeared in last spring's presentation "Our Town." As a fitting reward for her outstanding performance, she won a scholarship to the UBC Summer School of the Drama. There she was given the part of Miranda in Shakespeare's "The Tempest," a choice which amply upheld KLT's confidence in her ability.

Now, as a young actress of constantly developing talent, she is anxious to prove herself again in a part that requires a different approach with a new technique.

Gloomy Shadows Often Cast By Lampshades In Need Of Dusting

By ELEANOR ROSS

If things are beginning to look dim in the living room, look to your lamps.

You may think, at first, that the rug has faded, the draperies are practically gone and that the slip covers look anything but fresh. Everything in general suddenly has that dingy, gloomy look.

The whole trouble may be that your lamps need washing!

Some of us are apt to skip the lamps when cleaning house. We swab off the table, wash off the ornaments, scrub the ash trays and forget the lamps completely.

The easy way to restore life to your living room is this: Remove the plugs from the table lamps and set them on the kitchen counter. Remove the shades, unscrew the light bulbs and put them to one side.

Protect the electric plugs from moisture. Take a sponge or brush, dipped into warm soap or detergent suds, and go over lamp base thoroughly. Rinse with a damp sponge or cloth and wipe dry.

SWAB LIGHT BULBS
Swab the light bulbs with suds, without wetting the business end of it! Rinse it carefully and wipe dry. Put the lamp back in its socket.

Then take a sudsy sponge, keeping the suds as stiff and dry as possible, and go over the shade, inside and out.

This method of washing works on almost any lamp shade. If you work quickly and with care, the results will be all to the good, for plastic, parchment, heavy glazed paper.

the fabric is sewed on before you submerge the shade in water which may loosen glue used to fasten fabric into frame.

STITCHED FABRICS
Fabric that's sewed on the frame may be safely dunked and scrubbed gently with a sudsy brush. Rinse under the faucet, or with a faucet spray attachment, and let dry thoroughly before replacing it on the lamp base.

Don't forget those wall lamps! Turn the metal or plastic shades upside down, wipe them out inside with a sudsy sponge and let them dry.

Unscrew the bulbs and go over them, too. Then wash the outside of the shades.

The job doesn't really take much time and effort and the results are striking.

UNDERSEA WALK
BRAASCHAT, Belgium (AP) — Diver Victor Van Lent, 35, proposes to hike across the bottom of the English Channel from France to Britain in August. He believes the underwater trip, 21 miles or more, would take about 50 hours.

Wife Preservers

Make a simple tool for replacing hard-to-reach light bulbs. Fasten the wire bulb holder from an old lamp shade to a broom handle or stick, adjusting the holder to the right tension to hold the bulb firmly while you unscrew it.

OKANAGAN CENTRE

OKANAGAN CENTRE — A delightful post-nuptial shower was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Baker, honoring Mrs. Gordon Walsley (nee Joan Van Ackeren) of Kelowna.

Having lived with her family at Okanagan Centre until teenage, she was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts.

The evening was brought to a close with a delicious lunch served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bernau have for a house guest, Miss Welch, who has lately been in Vancouver and is now planning a trip to England.

Needs Services Of Policewoman

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (CP) — Port Arthur will shortly hire the first policewoman in the history of its police force. She will wear full uniform, and will carry a firearm after she becomes proficient in its use.

The qualifications are the same as for male constables—she must be five feet eight inches or taller, and have the same educational qualifications as male constables.

Her chief duties will be in morality work, according to Police Chief W. Allen. The force comes up against many cases where male constables cannot handle women prisoners or suspects and has had to use the services of the Children's Aid Society in such cases.

TRANSFER MUSEUM

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian War Museum, long a part of the Canadian public archives, will be transferred to the human history branch of the National Museum of Canada, it has been announced. Dr. W. Kaye Lamb, Dominion archivist, will be succeeded as chairman of the war museum board by Dr. Jacques Rousseau, director of the branch.

Add Elegance To Plain Foods With These Seasoned Butters

IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"Those tantalizing touches of flavor that transform a plain sandwich, steak, chicken, shrimp or fish into an extraordinary dish are not as difficult as people think," observed the Chef.

"Very often the exquisite subtle taste can be traced to the right use of an appropriate seasoned butter. Do most homemakers understand how to prepare and use those butters, Madame?"

USE IT OCCASIONALLY
"Very few," I replied. "Most of them know about Maitre D' butter and it only occasionally."

"Then I suggest that today we describe the preparation of some of these butters and their use."

"The flavored butters of France are usually made with unsalted butter. In this country, whipped butter gives almost the same effect and I understand it has less calories. Out, Madame?"

"Out, Monsieur. Whipped butter contains a third less calories than either salted or unsalted butter."

ELEGANT TOUCH
"It is a good plan to keep two or three varieties made up in the refrigerator, ready to give a touch of elegance when required," the Chef continued.

"As a large quantity is seldom needed at one time, I suggest making it from one quarter pound units or sticks of butter. Let it stand at room temperature until softened, then work in the following seasonings, pack into little jars, cover and refrigerate."

SEASONED BUTTERS

Lemon Butter: 1 tbsp. lemon juice and 1 tsp. crushed grated lemon rind. For fish, sea food, lamb or in making fish sandwiches.

Mustard Butter: 1 tbsp. table mustard, any kind, American, Dijon or Bahamian. For ham, beef or veal.

Tabasco Butter: Add 1/2 tsp. Tabasco sauce. For meat, fish or vegetables.

Chives Butter: 1 tbsp. minced chives, 1/2 tsp. lemon juice and 1/2 tsp. water. For steak, poultry or liver.

Cress Butter: 1/4 c. minced cress, 1/2 tsp. lemon juice, 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce and 1/2 tsp. water. For fish, egg sandwiches or vegetables.

Horseradish Butter: 2 tbsp. drained prepared horseradish and 1/2 tsp. sugar. For smoked meats, shellfish or beef.

Pimiento Butter: 1 fine-minced canned pimiento and 1 tsp. wine vinegar. For corn, clams or oysters.

Olive Butter: 2 tbsp. minced stuffed olives or olive pieces, 1/2 tsp. lemon juice or wine vinegar. For veal, fish or in sandwiches.

Pickle Relish Butter: 2 tsp. well-drained, not too sweet pickle relish. For sandwiches, with lamb or veal.

TOMORROW'S DINNER

Sardine Filet Saladettes
Minute Beetsteak
Chives Butter
French Fries
Carrots and Celery

Baked Bananas with Coconut
Coffee Tea Milk
All measurements are level; recipes proportioned to serve 4 to 6.

Baked Bananas with Coconut: Peel 1 medium-sized, not quite ripe banana for each person to be served. Brush all over with melted butter, seasoned with lemon juice.

Roll in canned, flaked coconut. Place in a buttered baking dish.

Bake 15 min. in a moderate oven, 350 F., or until the coconut browns and the bananas are soft. Serve warm, plain or with hot lemon sauce.

TRICK OF THE CHEF
To 1 (3 1/2 oz.) can sardine fillets, diced, add half the quantity of minced green peppers, a tsp. of grated apple and the juice of 1/2 lemon.

Serve in lettuce nests, with a slice of red-skinned apple as the garnish.

Girl 20, Top Tar Has Never Been To Sea

LONDON (Reuters) — A 20-year-old girl was revealed today to be the leading sea dog aboard the old clipper ship Cutty Sark, now moored in the Thames as a maritime training ship.

Fiona Laidlaw took first prize in celestial navigation, coastal navigation and seamanship from 285 male students learning the ropes aboard the Cutty Sark.

Fiona loves the water so much she lives aboard her barge, the Tadpole, also moored on the Thames.

"All my life I've desperately wanted to go to sea," the secretary said today, "but of course that's impossible. The nearest I can get is dinghy sailing and this barge."

"Maybe I'll never be able to use my knowledge but by golly I'll be the best dinghy captain yet."

SCORCH PLAYS HIGH NOTE

The Packers handed Rossland Warriors a decisive, 3-0 blanking last night, opening the Savage Cup finals here on a high note, although the play was ragged and indifferent most of the time. Above, one of the highlights of the game was a bit of bewitching by Ray "Scorch" Powell, who moved in on defenceman George Ferguson, upper left, rounded second defenceman Don Fletcher, centre, and flipped in the rubber with his slow, deadly backhand shot. Powell, closest to camera, is seen taking his follow-through after the puck has dented the twine. (Courier photo by Gorbey)

Midnight Came Early Cinderella Unwilling

By GEORGE INGLIS
(Courier Sports Editor)

A real "Cinderella team" came to town yesterday. This was not a charming bunch of ashcovered NHL vets who were awakened by the touch of a tire company's wand, but an aggregation of Simon-pure amateurs with not one salary between them.

Headed by "Prince" Mike Buckna, the Rossland Warriors, conquerors of the Spokane Flyers, are a crew of pint-sized ice combatants who play hockey for the game, with the outside chance of making a buck out of it.

In recent hockey history there has been another Cinderella team, lauded by the members of the Ontario press as being the greatest thing since Avery Brundage—the only difference between them and the Warriors is a million-dollar tire corporation. The other main difference between the Whitby Dunlops and the Rossland pucksters is spelt in terms of ability.

The Dunnies had ability, great gaping bags of it—if you can believe at least every second thousand of their press agents' words. The Warriors' ability lies right in their own hearts, most of it.

On paper, they were a club of has-beens and never-wases, playing their sophomore year in a league which was out of their class. They would have been better in the Alberta-Montana Big Six, except for the fact that the WHL needed them.

On ice, they harassed the much-vaunted Spokane Flyers for a long season of scheduled games, and wound up by hitting them where it hurts, right in the finals.

Sure, they're not too neat. Sure, they lack somewhat in stature. Sure, they may be no deeper than a flapper's wink.

But they have one thing, which no hockey team of senior "A" status, up to and including "Canada's first co-op club, the Vernon Canadians, can claim—they are Simon-pure, paying off on an even split throughout. This gives them a constancy of spirit and a depth of comradeship that defies duplication.

They are a hockey players' hockey club.

THE POWER BEHIND

How can they do these things? Well, as they say in the best dialogues, "It ain't easy." Most of all, they need a leader who can inspire them, needle them, and give them the necessary tuition.

Mike Buckna is such a guy. He is a native of Trail, a hockey player who has carried his wand with distinction all over the hockey trails of the world, but mainly over in Czechoslovakia, where they have a desire for hockey that makes Canada pale by comparison.

Back in 1935, Buckna went over to Prague to train the Czechs in the comparatively new European art of ice-hockey. Two years later, he battled the Regina Caps to a 2-2 tie before 20,000 people in the huge arena in Prague. The showing of this Czech club was largely due to the fine teaching of this pint-sized centre with the king-sized heart.

That was the year he drilled pucks at a chubby-faced little guy in the Regina nets named Percy Downton, who now finds all his work cut out providing the ice whereon the Orchard City gladiators skate.

Two years later his own Trail Smoke Eaters came over to Europe, hot on the world championship trail, and Mike weakened, signing with them. He followed them back to Canada, and spent the war years away from his adopted country, but in 1946 he answered their importuning and returned for another two years.

Now he's back home again, helping his dad run his hostelry in the old home town, and just as a sideline, he's running a hockey team. It's not quite the scale he was accustomed to, back in those days in Czechoslovakia when he had up to 20,000 hockey players working under him—now he's only got 15.

But these 15, armed with the courage and spirit of their boss-man, proved to be more than the WHL ex-champions could handle this year, even a club like the Spokane Flyers, to whom a dollar or two is no barrier to getting a better player.

They are a stout-hearted band of spoilers.

MIDNIGHT CAME EARLY

Faced with the bigger, more capable boys in blue (yes, that's right, in blue), the Warriors didn't comply quite as gracefully as the story-book Cinderella, but scrapped their way through 60 minutes of hockey before they acknowledged their shut-out defeat at the hands of the Packers.

They showed themselves to be fairly handy at clearing the puck out of their own end and displayed a good brand of defensive hockey, especially net-minding. Their hustle was there, but made somewhat ineffective by the fast skating and combination work of the Packers.

Their passing showed the result of plenty of coaching, and they didn't get too many chances at the Packers' net, but when they did they drilled them right in.

Their big lack last night was a leader on the ice, to take charge of their hustle and drive and co-ordinate it. Given a good "take charge guy", they would be as dangerous as an adder.

The way they are, they will give the Packers trouble any time they let up for a second. They will provide an exciting series in which the name of the game is hockey.

And the Packers are not planning on doing any loafing.

Batting King Still Sitting On Sidelines

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington's Roy Sievers, the American League's home run king, today still was immobilized.

Sievers, who rapped 42 homers and knocked in 114 runs last season, hasn't played in nine days. The Senators' big gun was hit in the leg by a batted ball March 12, suffering a bruise. He played in three games, wound up pulling a muscle and has been idle since.

Although he has been taking a regular turn in the batting cage, Sievers has been cautioned by the club trainer not to risk playing for another three or four days.

Washington and a host of other teams were rained out Monday but two games escaped the weather.

Chicago Cubs laced Cleveland pitching for a 13-8 victory and Cincinnati defeated Philadelphia 4-3. Cub shortstop Ernie Banks drove in five runs with a pair of doubles and a homer, his seventh this spring.

The Redlegs bunched four of their nine hits in the sixth inning and tallied three times for the victory.

Hershey Pivot Wins AHL's Scoring Crown

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Marshall, of the American Hockey League's champion Hershey Bears, has won his first league scoring title, official statistics revealed today.

The centre from Kirkland Lake, Ont., had 64 assists to lead the league, while teammate Dunc Fisher, second in scoring with 88 points, counted the most goals, 41.

Cleveland's Johnny Bower topped the goalies with a 2.19 average in 74 games, and also had the most shutouts, eight. Bower won the Hap Holmes Memorial Trophy and a $300 league bonus.

Rough Riders GM Succumbs To Southern Blandishment

REGINA (CP)—Dean Griffing, manager of Saskatchewan Roughriders for the last four seasons, has accepted a post as general manager of the Tucson, Ariz., Cowboys football club, it was announced today.

"The opportunities there look so good that I just can't pass it up," Griffing said. "I regret in many ways that I have to leave the Riders, but the future is important and I think the move to Tucson means more security." There was no mention of terms.

The announcement capped a series of reports that Griffing had been hired by the Tucson team. Griffing said today he received an offer from the Cowboys a week ago. On his return he conferred with Riders who said they would not stand in his way.

FRAMES WORK

President Sam Taylor of the Western Interprovincial Football Union club said earlier Griffing was on the Roughriders permanent staff but they could not hold him. If he wished to go, he praised Griffing's work and said the club is sorry to lose him. Taylor said that Griffing, who served the club well as manager, but he added Roughriders realize

Spares For Rangers

TORONTO (CP)—Goalie Bruce Gamble, formerly with Guelph Biltmores of the Junior A Ontario Hockey Association, Monday was ordered to report to New York Rangers as the National Hockey League team's spare goalie in Stanley Cup playoffs.

Coach Mike Buckna's pint-sized Cinderella's were loathe to go back to their pumpkin last night, but the Packers' hockey sticks tolled "midnight" early for them.

Meeting the Packers for the first game of the Savage Cup finals on Kelowna ice last night, the Rossland Warriors wilted under the fast skating, hard checking and fine play-making of coach Jack O'Reilly's boys, dropping the decision 3-0, and giving the Packers a one-game lead in the seven-game series.

The Packers were wearing an unfamiliar garb, kitted out with Vernon Canadians sweaters and socks to avoid confusion with the red and white of the Warriors' strips, but their actions were comfortably familiar to the Okanagan fans.

The Warriors, smaller in stature than their Okanagan opponents, found trouble keeping up with the swirling gait of Greg Jablonski, Bugs Jones and Moe Young when they turned on the steam. They were kept constantly off balance by Brian Roche, Bill Swarbrick, Mike Durban, Joe Kaiser, Jim Middleton, and Ray Powell.

ROCK-WALL DEFENCE

If they did manage to get away, they were met by a rock-wall defence, with Pat Coburn, Andy McCallum, Orv Lavell and Harry Smith all playing stellar hockey on both defensive and offensive work.

Behind the blue line patrol, all-star net-minder Dave Gathrum, turning in a standout performance, anticipated their every attempt to invade his goal.

In the final frame, however, the Warriors turned on the pressure in the manner that must have proven to be Spokane's undoing, and filled the Packers' end of the ice with sound and fury.

In this outburst of energy, the Packers were hard-pressed to keep them off the score-sheet, and 60 minutes of that kind of pressing, if it could be maintained, would be enough to make the best hockey club work hard.

SETTLED DOWN

Referees Paul Bozzack of Le Breton and John Kotzma of Melville, Sask., handed out a generous portion of penalties in the first two frames, getting the boys used to them, then the game settled down into a penalty-free third frame.

Jones, Powell and Durban were the mail-men for the blue-clad Packers, and the clubs missed numerous other scoring chances, many of them thwarted by old pro Yogi Kraeger, ancient Vic Lofvendahl, lanky Don Fletcher, and chunky George Ferguson, backed up by some fine net-minding by Reno Zanier.

TWIN THREATS

Pinkie McIntyre, a guy who has to look up at every man on the ice and Hal Jones, a rangy were the two biggest threats on the ice with drift and desire, the Rossland roster, aside from Kraeger's deadly point shot.

Jones opening counter, at 13:56 of the first frame, came when the fleet centre came on for his first trick on the ice, accepted a pass from Lavell in the centre zone and drifted right over the Rossland blue line before he drilled a high one that caught Zanier flat-footed.

In the second frame, the Warriors played it tighter than a miser's fist for the first ten minutes, allowing only two shots on Zanier, and getting only one at Gathrum themselves. Then the Packers lowered the boom.

DEADLY BACKHAND

At 11:08 Powell accepted a pass from Jim Middleton at the red line, moved in to deke Ferguson "into the third row of seats," and let go his slow and deadly backhand for the Packers second goal.

A penalty to Lofvendahl was costly, as Jones took the puck from the face-off following the penalty call, rapped it over to Durban for the final marker.

SIDE-LIGHTS

When arena manager Percy Downton and Rossland coach Mike Buckna got together yesterday, they were swapping tales of the last time they met, 20 years ago. That time Mike was a centre man and coach of the Czech hockey club and Percy was the goalie for the Regina Caps, as the two clubs battled to a 2-2 tie. It brought back plenty of memories.

When pint-sized Pinkie McIntyre saw 6'4" Greg Jablonski skate out on the ice, he blinked, shook his head and pursued his lips speculatively. There is a foot-ruler in height and a 100 or so pounds separating the two.

Asked how old Vic Lofvendahl, Rossland's ancient defence man, was, O'Reilly answered, "I don't know for sure, but I'll bet he was going strong back in the days of the rovers, and seven-man hockey."

Coach Mike Buckna's pint-sized Cinderella's were loathe to go back to their pumpkin last night, but the Packers' hockey sticks tolled "midnight" early for them.

Meeting the Packers for the first game of the Savage Cup finals on Kelowna ice last night, the Rossland Warriors wilted under the fast skating, hard checking and fine play-making of coach Jack O'Reilly's boys, dropping the decision 3-0, and giving the Packers a one-game lead in the seven-game series.

The Packers were wearing an unfamiliar garb, kitted out with Vernon Canadians sweaters and socks to avoid confusion with the red and white of the Warriors' strips, but their actions were comfortably familiar to the Okanagan fans.

The Warriors, smaller in stature than their Okanagan opponents, found trouble keeping up with the swirling gait of Greg Jablonski, Bugs Jones and Moe Young when they turned on the steam. They were kept constantly off balance by Brian Roche, Bill Swarbrick, Mike Durban, Joe Kaiser, Jim Middleton, and Ray Powell.

ROCK-WALL DEFENCE

If they did manage to get away, they were met by a rock-wall defence, with Pat Coburn, Andy McCallum, Orv Lavell and Harry Smith all playing stellar hockey on both defensive and offensive work.

Behind the blue line patrol, all-star net-minder Dave Gathrum, turning in a standout performance, anticipated their every attempt to invade his goal.

In the final frame, however, the Warriors turned on the pressure in the manner that must have proven to be Spokane's undoing, and filled the Packers' end of the ice with sound and fury.

In this outburst of energy, the Packers were hard-pressed to keep them off the score-sheet, and 60 minutes of that kind of pressing, if it could be maintained, would be enough to make the best hockey club work hard.

SETTLED DOWN

Referees Paul Bozzack of Le Breton and John Kotzma of Melville, Sask., handed out a generous portion of penalties in the first two frames, getting the boys used to them, then the game settled down into a penalty-free third frame.

Jones, Powell and Durban were the mail-men for the blue-clad Packers, and the clubs missed numerous other scoring chances, many of them thwarted by old pro Yogi Kraeger, ancient Vic Lofvendahl, lanky Don Fletcher, and chunky George Ferguson, backed up by some fine net-minding by Reno Zanier.

TWIN THREATS

Pinkie McIntyre, a guy who has to look up at every man on the ice and Hal Jones, a rangy were the two biggest threats on the ice with drift and desire, the Rossland roster, aside from Kraeger's deadly point shot.

Jones opening counter, at 13:56 of the first frame, came when the fleet centre came on for his first trick on the ice, accepted a pass from Lavell in the centre zone and drifted right over the Rossland blue line before he drilled a high one that caught Zanier flat-footed.

In the second frame, the Warriors played it tighter than a miser's fist for the first ten minutes, allowing only two shots on Zanier, and getting only one at Gathrum themselves. Then the Packers lowered the boom.

DEADLY BACKHAND

At 11:08 Powell accepted a pass from Jim Middleton at the red line, moved in to deke Ferguson "into the third row of seats," and let go his slow and deadly backhand for the Packers second goal.

A penalty to Lofvendahl was costly, as Jones took the puck from the face-off following the penalty call, rapped it over to Durban for the final marker.

SIDE-LIGHTS

When arena manager Percy Downton and Rossland coach Mike Buckna got together yesterday, they were swapping tales of the last time they met, 20 years ago. That time Mike was a centre man and coach of the Czech hockey club and Percy was the goalie for the Regina Caps, as the two clubs battled to a 2-2 tie. It brought back plenty of memories.

When pint-sized Pinkie McIntyre saw 6'4" Greg Jablonski skate out on the ice, he blinked, shook his head and pursued his lips speculatively. There is a foot-ruler in height and a 100 or so pounds separating the two.

Asked how old Vic Lofvendahl, Rossland's ancient defence man, was, O'Reilly answered, "I don't know for sure, but I'll bet he was going strong back in the days of the rovers, and seven-man hockey."

Rutland Residents' 'Bee' Begins Park Project

Rutland's centennial project, the athletic park, moved along toward completion on Saturday and Sunday when working bees were organized.

Holes were dug for log posts for the ornamental log gateway at the entrance, peeling of logs was started, and forms were put in place for the concrete base. Fencing of the swimming pool was begun, and the new filtering tanks painted.

The baseball boys removed the old backstop, disced and seeded the outfield, and new holes for the backstop posts dug by machine, as were the backstop holes for the Rovers' softball diamond. The latter group were out Sunday afternoon, and moved and cleaned up the diamond.

A lot of work still has to be done, and another bee is planned for the coming weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mugford and family of Kamloops were visitors at the home of Jim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Mugford this past weekend.

Alta. Moves To Broaden Liquor Laws

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta's proposed new liquor laws would provide for dining lounges, cocktail bars and cabarets, without mandatory local option.

The new legislation, resulting from a provincial liquor plebiscite last fall has been introduced in the legislature. It would go into effect either May 1 or June 1, whichever date is set by the House.

The new liquor licences would be limited to "high quality" restaurants, the bill says. The dining lounge where liquor would have to be served with food would be set up before establishment of the adjoining cocktail bars, where food would be optional. Then the operator could apply for a cabaret licence.

LIQUOR ON TRAINS

Unless local option votes are demanded by petition, some of the proposed new outlets could be in operation before the year is out.

Provision also is made for serving liquor on transcontinental trains passing through Alberta, but not on those operating within the province—such as the Calgary-Edmonton train. Airlines would not be licensed to serve liquor.

TROPICAL AREA

Nearly one-fifth of the Transvaal province of South Africa lies within the tropics.

District merchants are entitled to the support of the citizens. They are established here, pay heavy taxes and oft-times assume more than their share of the responsibilities of citizenship. The money that comes over their counters stays in the community, unlike that which goes to the out-of-town merchant, which usually goes to someone who has nothing at stake in the community.

By buying from your district merchants you are working for the advancement of your own community, for the money he has to spend is spent where he is established and where his interests are. On the other hand, if you patronize some outside concern which does not give a rap about the community, you are lacking in loyalty to the community in which you live.

The bidding:
East	South	West	North
Crawford	D'Alelio	Becker	Chiaradia
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	3 ♦	Pass	4 ♥

Opening lead—ace of clubs.

In this opening session of the 166 game a match for the world championship between Italy and the United States, the Italian team gained 14 international match points in the 16 hands that were played.

The largest swing occurred when this deal, No. 10, was played. I held the West cards. The bidding went as shown. Two sound of clubs were cashed and Crawford later scored a trump trick. D'Alelio made ten tricks for a score of 620 points.

We noted at the time that the result seemed fairly normal. There was a possibility, I thought, that our teammates, John Stone and A. J. B. might reach a contract of four spades with the North - 5 - 5 hands, in which case eleven tricks would be made for a score of 650 points.

Since beating a team by from 10 to 60 points on a particular deal was rewarded by one IMP, Crawford and I were rather complacent about the result. We thought we'd either break even or gain a point.

But when our teammates played the hand, the bidding went as follows:

East	South	West	North
Forquet	Roth	Siniscalco	Stons
Pass	1 ♦	Pass	1 ♦
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 ♦
Pass	3 ♦	Pass	3 NT

This contract quickly failed. Siniscalco opened a low club. The king won, the jack was returned, and Roth was down two before he could cash his eleven high card tricks.

Where did the fault lie? It is not easy to say. Roth could not open the bidding with a heart because, according to the methods he and Stone use, an opening bid in a major suit guarantees at least five cards of the suit. The subsequent bidding did not reveal the club weakness. Perhaps Roth and Stone were unlucky in that 29 of their 31 points were concentrated in three suits.

Whatever the reason, the Italians scored 620 points, while the North-South cards and 200 points with the East-West cards, against 820, or 7 IMPs.

TO SCUTTLE SHIP
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — On April 16 the wartime Liberty ship William C. Ralston will be loaded with 6,500 tons of United States Army lewisite gas cylinders and mustard gas bombs, towed out to sea and scuttled in water 2,250 fathoms deep. The army chemical corps said "dumping the chemicals in deep holes in the ocean involves no danger to human beings or fish."

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

When an emergency confronts you, you must remain calm and act quickly. In the case of injuries, you must also know exactly what to do and what not to do.

That's why the Committee on Accident Prevention of the American Academy of Pediatrics recently issued first aid instructions on what to do in case a youngster suffers a burn.

These instructions have been approved by the Committee on Trauma of the American College of Surgeons and the Federal Civil Defense Administration. So I'd like to pass a few of them on to you.

THREAT TO LIFE

Even small burns, you must remember, could possibly be followed by infection, lockjaw, excessive scarring and disfigurement. More serious burns, with accompanying shock, may present an immediate threat to life.

If a youngster is scalded, his clothing covering the injured area should be removed, immediately. For all chemical burns except phosphorous, wash the area with large quantities of running water. In the case of chemical burns of the eye, flush the eye with a saline solution of water.

KEEP WOUND CLEAN

Fresh burns are relatively clean. To keep them that way, cover them loosely with a clean cloth and don't remove it until you get the child to a doctor's office or hospital emergency

Don't apply greases, powders or ointments for emergency treatment of burns. The physician who will care for the youngster is better able to determine just what type of treatment is necessary.

REASSURE PATIENT

To help combat shock, keep the child lying down while transporting him to the hospital or doctor's office. Also, keep him warm and reassure him frequently that he is going to be all right.

Generally, pain is not a serious problem in emergency treatment of a burn. For this reason, pain-relieving drugs should not be administered by anyone e-

YOUR

By Ed

FOR TOMORROW

If the burn covers five per cent of the body or more, if the youngster's face, hands or feet are burned, or if the areas surrounding a joint are burned, then the child should be hospitalized.

War Rockets

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A fleet of winged missiles could cruise over the earth for months on end, ready to streak down on any target at a moment's notice, the space-age conference was told here.

General Manager William F. Balhaus of Ntronics, the electronics division of Northrop Aircraft Incorporated, said:

"Considerable research now in progress on atomic engines. Such engines will make it possible for winged missiles to cruise for months over the face of the earth."

"Should present negotiations with the Russians for an open skies agreement ever materialize, I can visualize a fleet of winged missiles with atomic engines and automatic reconnaissance equipment maintaining constant aerial inspection which is part of the open skies plan."

"If we were to let our imaginations rove, we could see fleets of atomic-powered winged missiles carrying thermonuclear warheads cruising endlessly in a condition of immediate readiness to strike at pre-selected or command targets."

Such missiles, Ballhaus said, would not need refuelling and would have to be returned to their bases only for periodic maintenance work.

FOR TOMORROW

This day's planetary influences, being somewhat mixed, make it important to be cautious in business deals and real estate where finances are concerned. Don't take chances. The aspects, however, are fine for creative work and for enterprises requiring originality and imagination.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, the period between now and early October should be excellent from a material point of view. Job headway is indicated not only through your own efforts, but also through opportunities for advancement offered by persons interested in your welfare. And, if you make the most of these opportunities—even if they entail additional work, you'll profit financially, too. You will probably hear some news of a romantic nature in late May or early June, and travel is on your favored list for July and August. Home and family matters should prosper for most of the year but, in this connection, there may be brief periods of stress in late August.

Do not let others burden you with their problems in December and January. Instead, devote yourself to your own interest, since new opportunities available then will not only demand your full attention but will have an important bearing on your gains in 1959.

A child born on this day will be good-natured, ambitious and extremely sensitive to the feelings of others.

Trade Board's Schedule Of Fees Explained At Luncheon Meeting

One hundred and twenty-five enthusiastic members of the Kelowna Board of Trade jammed the dining room of the Royal Anne on Monday at a luncheon which inaugurated a new board policy of holding monthly general luncheons.

The new board policy, it is hoped, will keep the general membership always informed of current business being handled by the executive. The inaugural luncheon was an outstanding success, with the attendance surpassing the officers' fondest hopes.

The meeting was devoted principally to the discussion of the new schedule of dues. G. D. Imrie outlined the special committee's recommendations and answered several questions asked from the floor. He and the president, S. Harrison Smith, readily admitted that the new scale was something of a trial and error process but stated that it was based generally on a complicated formula of past dues, donations to the tourist bureau, number of employees and other factors.

Some dues have actually been increased by as much as 500 percent. The greatest assessment is $150.

On the other hand the new fees for some firms are actually lower than their former fee plus their tourist bureau donation. Henceforth the tourist bureau will be financed out of the board's revenue.

No opposition to the new rates was expressed but it was evident that most members sought some clear explanation of how the new dues were worked out. The explanations given appeared to satisfy the members.

NEW MEMBERS

A drive for new members will be undertaken during the next month by a committee under the chairmanship of L. G. Wilson, who urged every member of the board to become a board advocate and so assist his committee.

The president reported that the board's annual social general meeting will be held at the Aquatic on April 16 with L. J. Wallace, chairman of the B.C. centennial committee, as guest speaker.

A one-day tourist clinic will be held on April 10, sponsored by the provincial tourist bureau.

C. E. R. Bazett reported that the board's group insurance plan would come up for renewal shortly and asked any members having any opinions on it to contact him.

Entertainment was provided by a group of seven high school students, all members of the high school musical organizations, who under the leadership of J. Travis, delighted their audience with three instrumental selections.

The meeting was organized by a committee composed of W. A. Shillock and D. C. Vivian.

COUNCIL NOTES

City Promises Support Local Clean-Up Drive

City fathers promised the Junior Chamber of Commerce their co-operation in the April 15-30 Clean-up, Paint-up Campaign. Jaycee Tom White asked city council Monday night for support and expressed the hope that arrangements could be worked out for a special trash pickup all over the city by the garbage collection department.

APPLICATION of A. A. Thompson, 1468 Bertram St., for city water services at 784 Burne Ave., was turned down by resolution Monday night. The week before, city fathers promised an investigation into allegations made by Mr. Thompson that one or more members of the city hall staff had indicated he (Thompson) could get city water.

Mr. Thompson told the council he had bought the lot, intending to build on it, on the understanding that city water would be available.

ALD. ROBERT KNOX advised city council Monday night he had received some severe complaints about the condition of the roadway on Fuller Avenue, particularly from Ethel Street east. The city engineer, H. M. Trueman, was asked to investigate.

COUNCIL DECIDED Monday night to send letters of congratulation to the Teddy Bears, who won the B.C. senior "B" women's basketball championship, and to the Ollers, who in the final at Vancouver, lost out in their bid to capture the provincial men's senior "B" hoop laurels.

BY RESOLUTION Monday night, city council rescinded all "no parking" regulations along water St. in the vicinity of the large yard of the Kelowna Bridge Contractors.

Night Patrol System Will Be Discussed

Possibility of increasing the night patrol in the industrial section of the city will be discussed Thursday afternoon at a special meeting called for those packing-houses and firms in the current special police patrol area.

There are more than 20 companies who subscribe to the patrol area plan, paying for the services of Patrolman G. K. Kristjanson.

Extra policing is being considered, however, in view of the number of break-ins during the past few months. L. R. Stephens, administrator for the special police patrol industrial area, has asked representatives of city council be at the meeting.

Mayor Parkinson delegated Ald. Donald Horton to attend.

City Workmen Commended By Fire Dept.

City workmen in all departments concerned took a bow through Works Superintendent H. M. Trueman at Monday night's city council meeting when a letter was read from Percy Mc-

Callum, secretary of the Kelowna Volunteer Fire Brigade.

The letter, written on behalf of the fire chief and the members of the brigade, commended Mr. Trueman and all city workmen concerned for the assistance and co-operation rendered the brigade during the Simpsons-Sears fire.

Many times some of the workmen went beyond the line of duty, the letter read.

There are 600 technical schools in Britain maintained mainly by local authorities.
